Anonymous Gift of $1,000 Given Animal League

Officers of the Palm Springs Animal Protective League are today offering their gratitude to the anonymous donor who contributed $1,000 to their new animal shelter building fund.

The donation, contributed by a check issued through a Coachella Valley Savings and Loan officer, was accompanied by a note signed "Animals Anonymous."

IN THE NOTE, the donor expressed the feeling that the organization "deserves support and encouragement" and conveyed the donor's offer to add another $1,000 donation to the next $1,000 any member or group of members can bring into the League between now and the May membership meeting.

The offer is designed to "spur members further in their worthwhile efforts," according to "Animals Anonymous."

LEAGUE OFFICIALS urged members to accept the challenge by sending donations to Post Office Box 749, Palm Springs.

The building fund now contains between $4,000 and $5,000. Plans for the proposed new animal shelter are now being revised. The total amount needed for construction of the building is dependent upon land costs and the floor plan, officials said.

Sewer Election Campaign Starts

Members of the Citizens Sewer Committee today mapped plans for a campaign designed to encourage passage of a forthcoming, $1,550,000 sewer bond election.

Election date for the bond issue, programmed to provide funds for construction of main city sewer lines, is Tuesday, April 29.

COMMITTEE OFFICIALS said they are preparing sewer "fact sheets" for distribution to voters and are arranging for talks before local civic groups "to encourage a favorable vote in the sewer ballot."

The committee, composed of residents commissioned by the City Council to develop "the best possible sewer proposal," has spent almost a year in devising the present sewer plan.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS pointed out that the plan being offered to the public now bears little relation to last year's ill-fated $3,800,000 sewer bond proposal.

It was explained that the new plan contemplates no mandatory connections, no monthly service charges and no high connection fees. Committee officials said no outside consultants will be hired to promote the issue and "no expensive lines are to be installed through vast, undeveloped areas."

THE FORTHCOMING bond issue is charted to provide installation of main sewer lines only, instead of immediate installation of neighborhood and main lines as was proposed last year.

The committee also noted that "only immediately necessary lines will be installed at the present time." Funds for future mains, to be installed "as needed," are expected to be obtained through in-lieu payments made by persons connecting to main lines.

It was also noted that the current plan provides that neighborhood lines are to be installed through assessment districts and will not be added to the cost of the bond issue.

Rumors of Vote Challenge Squelched by Ex-Mayor

Rumors of an election challenge by voters in District 4, were squelched today by ex-mayor Charlie Farrell who said that the victorious candidate, Mary Carlin, had worked hard and won by the narrow margin, and he personally could not see any reason for filing a challenge.

A challenge can be filed for several reasons, a tie vote, fraud, improper voting, and a recount.

A strong backer of defeated Mayor Jerry Sanborn, Farrell said that Mrs. Carlin had won the post by campaigning for better roads on the north end, an effort that was "undertaken by me for 8 years, former mayor Eugene Theriault before that, and Mayor Sanborn since my term on the council, and nobody seems to stop and think that it is not the City Council who improves streets, but the people," said the ex-mayor.

"I think it is absolutely charming," said Farrell, "that Mrs. Carlin can get the new roads for us and I am going to sit back and watch with great interest the procedure."

Three major road improvements are already under way by the present city council, the widening of Indian Avenue between Paseo El Mirador and Chino Drive; the widening and paving of Vista Chino from Palm Canyon Drive to Sunrise Way; and the petitioning to the state for the improvement of North Palm Canyon Drive.

Chamber Starts Second Survey on Business Fees

Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce officials today launched a second survey to determine whether resort businessmen will approve double business license fees to raise money for a city convention hall.

A similar survey, also requested by the City Council, was conducted two weeks ago but results tabulated from a response of only 28 per cent of those queried proved inconclusive.

CHAMBER DIRECTORS attributed the light response to the fact that questionnaires mailed to businessmen required a signature. The new survey involves cards requiring only a check mark signifying approval or disapproval.

Chamber Manager Jimmy Cooper explained that the survey is based on a proposal to double business license fees to raise funds for construction of a 2,000-seat convention hall.

HALF THE DOUBLE fee would be used for the hall and to finance convention promotion for the resort city.

Cooper emphasized the point that the survey does not represent an attempt to "force something upon the businessmen" but is intended to determine their feelings on what is "thought to be an equitable plan."

Results of the previous survey showed the return cards divided into 56 per cent in favor of the plan and 44 per cent opposed.

New Earth Slide Rumbles Down On Highway 101A

LOS ANGELES — A new huge earth slide about a quarter-mile north of the Pacific Palisades "killer slide" rumbled down onto Pacific Coast Highway late Wednesday night, taking with it a bath house and threatening to isolate 125 families.

Police said the slide was 150 feet wide and 25 feet deep along the highway, U. S. 101A.

The bath house of the home on Mantua Street fell away with the slide and left the swimming pool wall exposed. Police said the pool was located directly behind the home and that the home also was threatened.

Families living in the trailer camp near the Bel-Air Bay Club now have only a private road, Arno Way, leading into their homes. There is a possibility the road might tumble down if a new slide occurs, Nesbitt said.

DHS Incorporation Group Plans Fund-Raising Dinner

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — Incorporation proponents last night approved an extension of boundaries for the proposed city of Desert Hot Springs and charted plans for a fund-raising dinner to finance incorporation proceedings.

Members of the Committee for Incorporation of Desert Hot Springs indicated approval of plans to incorporate and extend area of 14 square miles.

AT THE SAME time, the committee scheduled a "$2 a plate" dinner for Addington's Restaurant April 29 in hopes of raising $2,500 to pay for incorporation proceedings.

Original plans for incorporation encompassed an area of about seven square miles, according to Committee Chairman Herbert Eccleston. The area was subsequently expanded to embrace subdivisions to the west of the community.

BOUNDARY LINES listed by Rolf Skovholt, boundary committee chairman, include the proposed North Palm Springs line on the south, extend one-half section west of Indian Avenue, extends north along Little Morongo Road and 16th Street and east to Mountain View, running south to the North Palm Springs line. Eccleston also reported that the committee called a public meeting for 8 p.m., April 17, at the Desert Hot Springs Town Hall. Palm Springs City Attorney Jerry Bunker has been invited to address the meeting.

Young GOP Meeting Set

Organizational meeting of Palm Springs Young Republicans will be held at 7:30 p.m., tonight, Thursday, at the Palm Springs High School, according to Lou Carhart, temporary chairman.

The meeting is open to everyone. Carhart said, with the group designed especially for persons 18 to 40 years of age.

Strike Stopped

Havana Returns to Near Normal; Police on Patrol

HAVANA — Police stopped a rebel-called general strike in its tracks today and carried out a bloody house-to-house purge of known Communists and rebel sympathizers throughout greater Havana.

Unofficial estimates placed at 50 to 60 the number killed so far by police who prowled the city through the night in cars carrying groups of three to five men each searching out the hiding places of all suspects.

OUTWARDLY, THE city had almost returned to normal after Wednesday's initial outbreak in which a fire bomb exploded across the street from the Prime Minister's office and bullets splattered the walls of buildings along the Prado, Havana's main street.

A portion of the old city still was without lights. The hotel Sev-

Planners Delay Action on Land Below Sea Level

The County Planning Commission this week postponed action on a record of survey for a subdivision at the Salton Sea which is being developed by Palm Springs hotel owner Ray Ryan.

The reason for the failure to take action was something new in the history of the commission, and when finally decided will set a precedent for future action.

The portion of land, on which the subdivision is located, is too far below the minimum water table. Riverside County has set minimum, but Imperial County has a minimum of 190 feet below sea level, and this particular land is between 212 and 215 feet below sea level.

The area up for approval is located near Moorpark Station about nine miles southeast of Mecca and off Highway 111.

Wartime Need Cited By Secretary

Ike Prepares To Carry Fight To the People

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy said today his department must change into "a wartime organization" capable of reacting to enemy attack "in minutes instead of hours."

In a strong plug for President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan, McElroy said "any such shift must be made now." He said legislation embodying the program will be sent to Congress "shortly after it reconvenes next week."

CONGRESS RETURNS Monday after an Easter recess.

The President announced at his news conference Wednesday that he will go directly to the people in an all-out fight against congressional opponents of his reorganization program.

He will make his first such appeal in a speech, to be broadcast by radio and television, at a lunch next Thursday to the American Society of Newspaper Editors meeting here.

McElroy said that no time should be lost in making the "shift from a peacetime to a wartime organization." In the age of missile warfare, there would be no time to make the change after an attack, he said.

The President, meanwhile, received a prediction from Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) that both houses of Congress—the Senate by "a large majority"—will approve the plan despite opposition from some influential congressmen.

SEN. MIKE MANSFIELD (D-Mont.) has expressed fear the proposed reorganization would make the Defense Secretary a czar or dictator.

Anti-Trust Suit Filed Against Screen Gems

sympathizers were ordered to shoot first and make no arrests. In Mariel, another town outside Havana, five men were reported to have occupied a church and attempted to use it as a headquarters until routed out by police.

Most Havana newspapers were able to publish today, although with reduced editions.

POLICE AND ARMY forces stood guard around the newspaper plants throughout the night to prevent sabotage and a possible walkout by workers.

Despite the cold efficient police methods which smashed their first attempt, rebel sources insisted they were not defeated. They claimed 2,000 to 3,000 militant members in greater Havana and claimed they had distributed 2,000 Tommy guns in the Havana area alone.

Krysiak to Secure Service Station in Area City Proposes to Annex; Approved by County Planner

Bearing an obvious chip on his shoulder, John Krysiak, one of the leaders of the North Palm Springs incorporation move, charged this week before the Board of Supervisors that the County Planning

Commission is collaborating with the City of Palm Springs and is holding up issuance of a permit to put in a service station on the northwest corner of Indian Avenue and San Rafael Drive. The property zoning allows construction of a service station, but according to Krysiak the planning commission has delayed the permit pending an agreement to a 44-foot setback.

Called in to explain the status of Krysiak's permit application, W. O. Flint, planning associate, explained that no action by the planning commission is required. It is a matter of issuance of a building permit. He explained that a further setback of only two feet is called for, but said he is willing to clear the way for a building permit without the additional two feet of setback.

Krysiak's property is located in an area which the City of Palm Springs seeks to annex. Now in the unincorporated area it is in an M-1 industrial zone which the city would undoubtedly seek to change to a more restricted use.

Pomona Firm Submits Low Hospital Bid

Twelve bids were submitted to the Board of Supervisors this week on construction of kitchen, nursing and administration units at the Riverside County General Hospital in Arlington for which the money is forthcoming from a bond issue approved by the voters.

The bids, ranging from a low base bid of $1,769,000 to a high base bid of $2,009,000 were referred by the supervisors to the architect, Herman Ruhnau, Administrative Officer Robert T. Andersen and County Counsel Ray Sullivan, Jr., for study and recommendation.

It is expected that the $1,769,000 bid by James I. Barnes Construction Co., of Pomona will be accepted by the supervisors at their next meeting April 14. Cost of the project was estimated at $2,030,000.

Supervisors Divided on Cooperative Road Improvement Pact for Idyllwild Subdivision

A cooperative agreement for improvement of an extension of Sylvan Way which will provide access to a new subdivision of Idyllwild Mountain Park Company in the mountain resort area was approved by a three to two vote of the Board of Supervisors this week, with Supervisor George Berkey and Supervisor Paul Anderson dissenting.

It was observed by Berkey that the argument by Enos Reid, attorney for the subdividers, that the road will serve other property owners whose property it crosses, is no reason for county participation since there are not any residences on the property which will be crossed in the extension to the subdivision.

BERKEY INSISTED that at present the road will be of service only to the subdivision and can therefore be considered only as access road to the subdivision. He noted that County Counsel Ray T. Sullivan, Jr., told the supervisors when the issue came up three weeks ago that the subdivision ordinance provides that the one establishing a subdivision must provide adequate access to it.

"WE'RE PROVIDING the subdivider with an access road at lesser cost," argued Berkey, "and we're setting a precedent. We've turned down similar proposals before, including one in the Salton Sea area. We suggested to them that they get together with the owners of the property to be crossed, and I think that is what should be done in this case."

Tree Chopping Fines Established

JERUSALEM, Israel — An — Tree chopping was made punishable by fine in the city of Haifa today. The fines, which will vary from $9 to $54 depending on the tree, will be used for planting new trees.

New Orleans is 1,703 nautical miles from New York.

"The owners of the property to be crossed, between the present improved section of Sylvan Way and the subdivision, should share the cost with the subdivider if anyone is going to do so. The county shouldn't do it."

"THE ONLY FACTOR that could warrant county participation is that the property to be crossed is owned by individual lot owners and is not a subdivision ownership," commented Road Commissioner A. C. Keith. "It is a borderline case."

Keith admitted that there was originally an understanding with

Reid that a cooperative agreement would be acceptable, but since then the planning commission has said that the road should be improved by the subdivision and Keith changed his viewpoint and labeled county participation "questionable."

Under the agreement approved by the three-to-two vote of the supervisors, the subdivider will furnish oil for the project and pay half the cost of drainage, tree removal and grading. The county's share of the cost, including the work of paving the road, was estimated by Keith to be about $1,000.

When Distance Is Always Tempting!

Take a new Cadillac—point its hood toward some distant destination—and watch what happens!

We would be willing to wager that day's end would find you far closer to journey's end than you could ever have imagined!

We say this because we know how wonderful the miles are when they pass beneath the wheels of a new Cadillac—and how tempting distance is when seen through the windshield of the "car of cars".

First of all, imagine how comfortable and rested you would be! The seat-cushions are soft and deep and perfectly contoured. The steering wheel is ideally positioned . . . and the car is wonderfully spacious.

Then consider how easy the car is to handle! It is incredibly agile and responsive—and wonderfully smooth and level of ride. In fact, if you have selected the extra-cost option of Cadillac's air suspension, you can scarcely detect the presence of the road.

And think of your pride and contentment! The very knowledge that your motor car is so highly admired and so widely respected adds its own reward to each and every mile.

You ought to try it soon. Your dealer will be happy to explain the virtues of Fleetwood coachcrafting—and to give you the facts on every model, including the exclusive Eldorado Brougham.

CVAPC Deserves Three Big Cheers

Three cheers for the Coachella Valley Advisory Planning Committee! Action of the recent big meeting of the group insisting that the State Highway Department depart from its long dillydallying tactics and get actual work started on the long promised and the badly needed widening of Highway 111 deserves highest possible praise.

And the added pledge of the CVAPC that they intend to follow through even to the point of "marching on Sacramento" if necessary to secure early results is also extremely encouraging.

The Committee certainly cannot be blamed for its publicly expressed insistence and well founded impatience.

One recalls that it was almost a year ago to the day that a similar meeting of the civic and business leaders, property owners and residents generally adopted a resolution calling for early widening of Highway 111 to ease the growing traffic congestion on this vital and heavily traveled route.

And what has been done?

Not one single small shovelful of earth has been moved, no plans announced and no contract bids called for.

In the contrary, the Highway Department seems to have gone off on an entirely another tangent in studying an alternate freeway route and by-passing the worsening Highway 111 problem.

It was made plain to a State Highway representative at the meeting that the people of this area need Highway 111 widened into an open access main boulevard first and foremost — above any other consideration.

Also, the plans for the future freeway of any nature and in any location are an entirely separate matter and should be kept in abeyance until Highway 111 is properly improved and certainly not allowed to interfere with immediately undertaking this most urgently needed project.

The Planning Committee has the backing of every resident of the Coachella Valley, and the thousands of motorists living elsewhere who travel 111, in demanding that actual work be started and soon.

It is regrettable that an entire year has been lost, and it is unthinkable that another year, or more than a matter of several months should pass without starting to make all of 111 a four lane boulevard.

Time is the essence. And the summer time is the ideal time for this big highway construction job.

Now is the time to release the plans, call for the bids and get going.

The sooner the better.

On the Heights of Mount Dulles

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Alpine mind of John Foster Dulles has many dazzling heights, many charming vistas, many perilous gulches and dead-end canyons.

You often feel the need at a press conference by the Secretary of State for St. Bernard dogs to lead you through the drifts and for frequent compass readings to find out where you are. But all this is said more in wonderment than derision.

FOR WHEN YOU do dope out what Secretary Dulles has been saying, you know that the trip through the mountains of his mind has been worthwhile. After a day or so of study, I find that in his last press conference he made some startling points:

1. That the Russians have big hydrogen bombs and are "willing to let it go at that." The Soviets are counting on the threat of nearly universal destruction to win their way to world supremacy. The key word is "threat" because, obviously, not even the Communist leadership would go to the trouble of destroying the earth's civilization in order to inherit the ruins.

IF RUSSIA INTENDED to wage thermonuclear war, she would clearly need an arsenal of tactical weapons. How, for example, would big bombs help her capture the Middle East oil fields or obtain a warm water port in the Mediterranean? The inference from the Secretary's remarks must be: Russia will not fight, except if attacked, but will continue to count heavily on atomic blackmail and propaganda.

2. That the United States, on the other hand, is not satisfied with big, unwieldy, impractical H-bombs. This is understandable from two views. One, like Russia, we hold the big H-bombs in use for defensive-deterrent work only. Two, unlike Russia, we are admittedly making tactical H-bombs and do contemplate their use.

WHILE I DO NOT find that any segment of the press hailed this inference in the Secretary's talk, I think it is both startling and cheering.

Our willingness to fight, rather than cowering, is the best warranty we have for keeping our sovereignty. An unwillingness to fight a war for our own preservation, or an inability to do so short of a world holocaust, would give the Communists every encouragement to mock and ignore our American interests.

3. THAT "PHONY propaganda" is not so important, after all. The Secretary told of a White House meeting where two alternatives were considered. One alternative was to "steal a march on the Soviets by ourselves announcing a suspension of testing at least for a time."

This, one would gather, would have been merely a publicity stunt on our part. We would have resumed testing, on one pretext or another, whenever our convenience was suited. Over against this "phony" business, was the other alternative — the one actually adopted. Our side decided to continue working on tactical H-bombs, said Dulles, "in fairness to our responsibilities and our duties to the American people, perhaps to humanity."

It pleased this reporter to hear the Secretary, speaking ad lib and instinctively, mention the American people first and "humanity" as an afterthought.

4. THAT THE UNITED STATES did not lose an advantage, but gained one, in making the choice it did. This was inferential in the Secretary's talk. He would have done better, I think, to have sounded off on this point, loud and clear. We are paying the neutral and allied nations no compliment at all if we presume, as is done daily in Washington, that they are suckers for the propaganda play.

Why should we not give the people of Pakistan, India, Thailand, Britain and Italy credit for average sense? Why must we assume they are stupid enough to be conned by the Russian stunts and to be left cold by our own display of honesty?

AS IT HAPPENS, I visited the above-named countries and several more shortly after the Sputnik scares of last autumn. Nowhere did I find among English-speaking foreigners any belief that Sputniks I and II spelled an end to American leadership. I found, instead, a curiosity among foreigners as to why Americans seemed to feel that way.

5. That the United States would rather suffer our own "disadvantages" than exchange them for the efficiency of Communist methods. The Secretary waxed almost emotional as he warned to this subject. He told us that we were a "free and independent and highly intelligent press" who would instantly recognize a "phony" and tear it apart publicly.

HE SPOKE OF AN opposition party which was "alert and prepared to expose." He mentioned American opinion that was "properly critical of its Government." He hailed allies who were "not just dummies . . . like the Soviet satellites." These were reasons, he seemed to say, why we should tell the truth and shame the Devil.

In more than a decade of listening to Mr. Dulles, I never heard him in better form.

Dear Abby . . .

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I am wrong but I would like your opinion. Our son is serious about a young school teacher who seems like a nice person. She is the only daughter of a widow who lives in another town. She invited my son and me to her apartment for dinner. I couldn't help but notice a stack of unopened letters on her desk. From the postmarks they had been there over three weeks. She made some remark about wishing she "had time to get around" to reading her MOTHER'S letters. I felt very bad for her mother. Now I have it in my head that this girl will not make a good wife for my son. Am I wrong?

A WIDOW ALSO

DEAR WIDOW: A girl who hasn't time to read her mother's letters is not my candidate for the ideal wife. You are wise to wonder, and your son would be wise to make haste slowly.

DEAR ABBY: I am a Girl Scout and am trying to earn a merit badge. One of the requirements is to take care of a dog or cat for three months. Everytime I try to do something for my pet, my great aunt (she lives with us) steps in to "show me how to do it" and she does it herself. One of the things a Girl Scout must be is TRUTHFUL. I want to get the merit badge at the Awards banquet in May. What should I do?

GIRL SCOUT

DEAR GIRL: A Girl Scout is also "courteous" — so let your great aunt "show you how." Accept the badge at the banquet . . . and when you get home, give it to your great aunt.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 31 years to a man who has a very mean temper.

He has hit me and knocked me down at least once a week ever since we were married. My two children are married and have their own problems. I can't do anything good enough to earn my own living so leaving him is out of the question. What should I do?

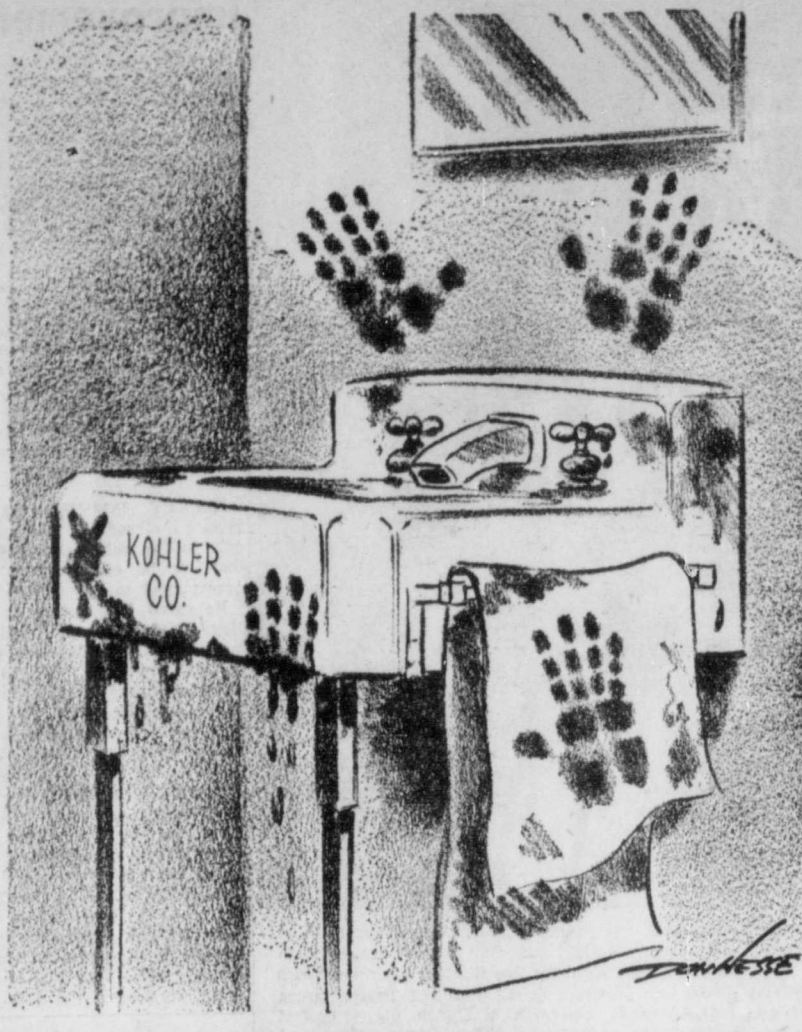

BEAT UP

DEAR BEAT: If you've put up with being knocked down once a week for thirty-one years, maybe he figures you like it. If a man is not fit to live with, he has to support his wife — under separate roofs.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SWED: Love (your kind) is seasonal. You Spring into love . . . and Fall out of it.

Whose Dirty Hands?

THIS SIDE of The Sun

By Phat

Among the clichés
The most assinine
Is the one which calls
It liquid Sunshine.

It's liquid, all right, but it isn't sunshine. I am now speaking of that which we had too much of recently.

JUST LIKE the happy, cheerful fellow who believes in making the best of everything. Sloshes blithely through the rain, gives you a bright smile, slaps you jovially on the back, scattering raindrops until you resemble a dog coming out of his bath, and says:

"Low fog, isn't it?"

It isn't and it isn't liquid sunshine.

ALWAYS BEING the one to call a spade a spade, knowing that it isn't a club, heart or diamond, I'm for calling it what it is — with appropriate control of adjectives in the presence of women and children.

Anyway, we always brag about never having any fog. The granite bulwarks to the west and south take care of that.

So why not call it what it is — or, speaking hopefully, was.

Just a clummy, aqueous, moist interference with our desert climate, a no-good-for-nothing but wildflowers and underground water tables, rain.

At that, liquid sunshine IS shorter.

SPEAKING of sunshine and rain as the above would indicate, brings to mind another casualty of modernization and progress.

That's the elimination of those extensions from buildings which covered the sidewalks clear out to the curb line.

Don't know the architectural name for them, maybe it's marquee, so will just call them overhangs, no resemblance to hangers.

That type of structure was designed for the desert. Spot of shelter from a too bright sun or an occasional too heavy rain.

CAN RECALL when there were several such oases on the east sidewalk of Palm Canyon Drive. Pleasant place to loiter when the sun beat down. Nice spot to hesitate before dashing for the next one during rain.

Only one left that I recall right now is in front of Tom Holland's department store. There's a narrow three-foot porch of that but there's a slight incline there. And if you tread upon a discarded gum wrapper in wet weather you are liable to suffer an attack of gravity and make like a man sliding into second base.

PALM SPRINGS will have its biggest day on April 19. Gov. Daniels has proclaimed that day "Palm Springs Day" throughout the state of Texas. That covers a lot of territory.

So here's the spot for the latest Texas story I've heard.

A Dallas man was showing a visitor his new solid gold limousine with ruby and diamond studded wheels.

"Wow," gasped his friend. "Aren't you afraid of thieves?"

"No," said the Texan. "I never drive it out of Texas."

"If this is the dawn of an exciting new era why isn't somebody waking up?" asks Cy N Peace.

STAN DELAPLANE'S Postcard

The worst part of being sick is having to get over it. I do not think invalids like me should be hustled around. But that is only one man's bitter opinion.

You lie about with a cold — which might turn into very serious complications, I might add. You lie in bed, pale and wan. The household tip-toes. The telephone is muffled. Through the door you can hear snatches of hushed conversation.

"YES, I THINK a little better today. Seems to be a cold."

This is comforting. Friends are inquiring. Orange juice is brought to the bedside and the pillows are fluffed up. The only problem is: you feel awful. Sneezy.

NOW COMES the day. The day when you wake up with a certain briskness. Life is rosy again. Can you now flake out and enjoy this wonderful life? Ha!

Just about the time you are ready to enjoy it, a certain chill comes upon the air.

People run around with the vacuum cleaner buzzing.

THEY THROW open the windows and the cold air comes blowing, blowing in.

Little significant remarks are made:

"The office called. Would you like to call them back?"

"Don't you think if you got up and got outside a little while you'd feel better?"

No, by John, I do not I do not wish to talk to the office. Nor do I wish to go outside. Nor have my bed pushed around while the vacuum cleaner whirs.

I WISH TO BE coddled and be served among the scatter of magazines. I want the telephone muffled and sober and serious remarks made on it as to the precarious state of my health.

I do not get this at all. I get, "Why don't you just lie out in the sun? It might do you a lot of good."

My aching back! Here I am one jump from death's door.

you might say. On borrowed time. My pajama pockets stuffed with Kleenex and barely able to lift the gruel to my lips.

WHAT DO I READ in these remarks? "Get up, bum. Get up and get it!"

That is a poor way to treat a man who has been teetering on the brink. Push me and I might have a relapse. How does anyone know that I am well? This could be the lull before the storm — a flicker of rational moment in which to say a few brave farewells to my loved ones.

INSTEAD OF rousing me out of the sack, people should be calling in the lawyers so I can dispose of my pitiful property.

People who rouse me around will be cut out of my will. I can tell you that.

I am hungry but do not dare ask for ham and eggs. Somebody might get the idea I am well enough to go out and mow a lawn. Oh, it is all fine and nobody can do enough for you when you are practically dying.

BUT SHOW ANY interest in getting well! They drive you out of the mansion. I am getting mighty tired of clear soups. But must continue lest I am considered well enough to clean out the culvert.

By evening I am feeling pretty chipper. I would like to go out and cavort around a little. I think this is very good for me. If you go out at night, people think you are well in the daytime.

NOT SO PEOPLE. In the daytime when I need my rest. A man may feel all right at night. But in the day he may not feel like getting up and working at all.

If I get up at night, it is only putting on a brave front. I do not wish to worry people.

In the daytime I do not mind if they worry about me a little bit. In fact, I prefer it. Nobody seems to realize that. I am telling you.

EARL WILSON:

Broadway Comics Laugh It Up

NEW YORK—Maybe you never knew Billy Vine, the plump comedian, who died not long ago, but everybody on Broadway did and everybody on Broadway came to the benefit for Billy's family.

The Old Romanian cafe rang with the belly-laughs Billy would have liked to get himself, and often did.

"What do you think of the Old Romanian?" Comedian Joey Adams asked double-talker Al Kelly in one routine.

"I think he's a hell of a nice fellow," Al said.

Phil Silvers used Milton Berle as a straight man—Berle, the fellow who used to be his big Tuesday night rival on TV.

"I'm so busy on TV—you've no idea what it's like to be on TV!" exclaimed Phil to Berle, who gave him an "Oh, I don't, huh?" look.

"You see, Milton, you need a plot on TV," Phil said.

"I wish you'd had a plot about 3 years ago—in a cemetery!" Berle retorted.

"Oh come now, do you mind if we let our hair down?" Phil said. Then, rubbing his bald spot, "I mean, do you mind if you let your hair down?"

Sid Caesar, Jan Murray, Buddy Hackett, Joe E. Lewis, Henny Youngman and others clowned for hours. Up stepped Comedian Alan King to mention "the new singing star, Sam Cook."

"Sam Cook is the name of a singer," he exclaimed. "He became a singer so fast they didn't have time to change his name!"

"But suppose you have never heard the name of Elvis Presley. A guy walks up to you and says 'Elvis Presley is here.' You think Sam Cook is a funny name!"

"They said it to me once about Elvis Presley and I said, 'What does he do?'"

"They said, Well, he . . . They weren't too sure themselves."

That's the way it went. Henny Youngman popped up at one time to say the Florida temperature is 80 (40 in the morning and 40 at night). Jan Murray said, "I got to go home now because I got to be up in an hour to do television."

Oh, there was plenty of sex appeal there, too: Polly Bergen, Dagmar, Eileen Barton, Gene Courtney and Denise Darcel who'd just followed Judy Garland into the Brooklyn Town and Country.

"Darling, I had two zouseand peoples there tonight!" boasted Denise.

"But the place only holds 1,700," I mentioned.

"Zen, darling, say I had 1,900 peoples there," said Denise.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . Syd Chaplin discovered Martha Hyer and took her to Goldie's . . . Ben Malsik of Town & Country says he'll sue Judy Garland for around $20,000 . . . At 'The Music Man': Liberate and Sal Mineo (separately).

Aly Khan hired a tutor, is learning Russian . . . New fad: Chain letters with savings bonds instead of dollar bills . . . George Raft's final 'take on his Sat. Eve. Post series' will be 100Gs . . . NBC-TV's paying $10,000 to put the Alan Freed rock 'n' roller on the Garroway show once from Detroit . . . Jane Kean, making her first N.Y. cafe appearance as a single, is a hit in the big Copa show.

Grace Kelly turned down the invitation to attend the opening of Monte Carlo's Int'l Sporting Club . . . Monte Proser has the inside track on operating the Mocambo cafe in H'wood . . . At El Morocco: The Pres. of Costa Rica and his cabinet (plus three N.Y.C. cops) . . . Ginny Simms' ex-husband, Hyatt von Dehn, is dating Eva Gabor Capitol Records is hot after Rosemary Clooney, who quit Columbia Records (after hassling with Mitch Miller) . . . A comic, who'd been drinking too much, tried to do his act, and Milton Berle heckled, "Hey—you're using Joe E. Lewis' material!" . . .

EARL'S PEARLS: There was big excitement in one of the TV studios. They caught some sponsor-less comedian putting real bullets in the cowboy actors' guns.

'Mardi Gras' Reports

HOLLYWOOD — Ray Anthony and his band will backstop Pat Boone in "Mardi Gras" and 20th-Fox will spring Gary Crosby from the Army for the same picture, following which Bing's boy will bounce back to Germany to finish his tour of duty.

Speaking of the Army, here's a GI-type quote from Private Elvis Presley: "Nuclear weapons are not in my line but unfortunately I'm in their line!" . . . Mijanou Bardot, Brigitte's 19-year-old sister, makes her movie debut April 21 in a movie about April 21 in a French film "Ramuntcho," and I'm told Mijanou kittens it up every bit as charmingly as Brigitte.

ERNIE BORGNINE'S the boy they're beckoning to play the I was - a - spy - for - the - FBI movie producer in "The Boris Morros Story" . . . Hecht-Lancaster trapped Oscar nominee Carolyn Jones for the leading lady in "The Rabbit Trap."

Title of Kirk Douglas's next cops-&-robbers movie gets right down to brass tacks. It's called "I Stole $16,000,000."

OSCAR - WINNER Miyoshi Umeki, preparing a telesong version of the special arrangement of her special singing favorite, Frank Sinatra, for "The Lady Is a Tramp," inserted her own special lyrics: "Hate Yokohama, it's cold and it's damp!" . . . Roy Rogers bought a 5,000-acre citrus ranch in Arizona.

Walt Disney swears he'll fly a flock of leprechauns out from Ireland on May 3 to play the little people in his new movie, "Darby O'Gill and the Little People." Gwan with your blarney, Walt.

ALEXANDER RAMATI checked in at 20th-Fox to write a screenplay based on Leo Nemo's as-yet-untilted story about an Irish-American Roman Catholic in the Israeli Air Force . . . Director Eddie Dmytryk describes "Warlock," his upcoming Western at 20th, as "a Greek tragedy with spurs and Stetsons."

Errol Flynn arrived in the Congo wearing a sealskin hat and carrying an umbrella and a traveling bag stocked with cocktail shakers and all the fixin's, plus cans of broiled quail eggs and greeted the producer of "Roots of Heaven" like this: "Mr. Zanuck, I presume?"

TV TOPICS — Silent screen star John Mack Brown will make his comeback in Dale Robertson's Western series, "Tales of Wells Fargo" . . . Bob Hope's reaction when he was advised he had won one of television's most coveted prizes, the Peabody Award, was simply, "How ABOUT that!"

Edward G. Robinson, Jr., went all-out at a local saloon celebrating his acting job in a playhouse 90 — and almost all-out on his ear too, the management was that put out about his cut-ups . . . John Derek signed up for a Wagon Train.

HOLLYWOOD'S AMERICAN Health Studios, where the musicians work out, signed a real musician, Dick Strout, to narrate its new teleshows. A walking signboard, as 'twere.

Another Western! Floyd Simmons slams right out of "South Pacific" into the starring spot in MGM-TV's Fastest Gun Alive.

BRITISH BROADCASTING now beaming The Thin Man, also signed up another MGM-TV version of an old movie, Northwest Passage. The British dig our Westerns too . . . Dug from a deadbeat actor: "Go ahead, build a better mousetrap and let 'em beat a path to your door — I get the same results by not paying my bills!"

Twenty-six scripters are wearing out their typewriter ribbons pounding out 39 segments for Lee Tracy's upcoming teleseries, New York Confidential, from the best-seller by Jack Lait and Lee Mortimer. Series is slated to start in May.

JAN CLAYTON, who paid no mind to the screams of her agents when she vetoed seven teleseries offers after exiting Lassie, has them cooing again now that she's seriously considering two other series. One deals with a mother and her teenage daughter and features gueststars, the other is a comedy based on true-life stories.

Ray Bolger, who just bobbed back from Blythe, where he starred in a couple of teleshows, tells me the difference between American and British TV is the difference between show budgets allotted in the two countries.

REVEALS RAY: "The money they allot for a show in England is so skimpy they can't afford writers. There wasn't one assigned to the hour-long spec I did over there—I had to ad-lib my way through the whole bloody business!"

Remember Dick Shawn's rock-&-roll satire on that Eddie Fisher show? Ed Sullivan had soured it previously. On account of The Great Stone Face doesn't dig r-&r, and I can't say I blame him.

Shawn, mulling a try at a tele-series, admits the idea of taking the plunge is a scary one: "If I flopped I'd be the youngest has-been in the business—I'm 30 and I don't relish the thought of being washed up at 31."

The Crosbys made up and Bob, headlined at the Sahara in Las Vegas, is plugging his daughter's act at the Tropicana as follows: "They signed Cathy over there to keep Jayne Mansfield's act clean."

Peddler Problem In Valley to Be Studied by D. A.

Enforcement of the county ordinance requiring a license for peddling goods, wares, merchandise, fruits and vegetables in unincorporated areas of the county, and a substantially higher license fee than the present $100 fee, was urged by the Palo Verde Valley Chamber of Commerce and referred by the Board of Supervisors this week to the district attorney, "as the proper enforcement agent."

Harvey Stewart, secretary-manager of the C. of C., said many complaints have been made by local merchants and business men regarding itinerant peddlers and salesmen said to be swarming over county territory surrounding the City of Blythe.

The proposed increase in the license fee was not discussed by the supervisors.

The word Arkansas is a French variant of Kansas which is a Sioux Indian name for "south wind people."

Board Orders Study of New Desert Animal Shelter Plan

Mrs. Aileen Stephens of Palm Springs told the Board of Supervisors this week that the Desert Humane Society which is in the process of organizing proposes to put up a $30,000 animal shelter if the county will donate about two and one-half acres of land on or near the highway and guarantee payment of an as yet undetermined sum of money yearly toward cost of operating the shelter.

She said other funds will be forthcoming from fees, contributions, pet adoption fees and services.

A DRIVE FOR a membership in the society to number 1,500 in 1958 is to get under way immediately, according to Mrs. Stephens.

Mrs. Stephens told the supervisors that she founded the Animal Protection League of Palm Springs but has resigned from its board of directors in order to spend her time in widening the scope of animal protection in the desert area and is president pro tem of the new society.

THE ANIMAL shelter proposed by Mrs. Stephens would be built of concrete block. It would contain 24 dog pens and runs and 18 cat cages with separate runs, a first aid clinic, isolation ward, reception room and office as well as an apartment for a humane officer and his wife. A crematory and pet cemetery would be added later.

Under Mrs. Stephens' plan all stray females would be spayed before adoption. License fees would be determined by the Board

Salton Sea Gas Tank Problem Still Undecided

Acting on the advice of Administrative Officer Robert T. Andersen, the Board of Supervisors this week instructed county counsel to draft an amendment requiring marine service gas tank installations to be underground and to have a permit. The ordinance now regulates only automotive and aircraft service stations.

Francis W. Merrill, sealer of weights and measures, told the supervisors three weeks ago that Richard L. Sinclair who holds the concession for marine gasoline at Salton Sea State Park should be required to have a permit and to put underground the two 1,000 gallon storage tanks he now has above ground.

MERRILL WAS ASKED by the supervisors to consider further the possibility of granting Sinclair a variance with safety precaution provisions such as possibly the requirement of a fence around the above-ground tanks.

Sinclair appeared before the supervisors to ask that they arrive at an immediate decision. "I have the gas as a convenience to people running their boats across the sea," said Sinclair. "It is a losing proposition. I'd be glad to take the tanks out if you say so."

"ARE YOU ASKING us to deny you a variance?" queried Supervisor George Berkeley.

"Well, no," replied Sinclair. "I'd like to have it to take care of the public." He said similar above ground 1000-gallon gasoline tanks have been in use on the other side of the sea for several years, and expressed the opinion that they are no more dangerous than gasoline trucks traveling the highways.

Water Company OBLIGATIONS

We have three main obligations to you as a water user . . . gathering the water . . . safeguarding it . . . and distributing it to you . . . when and where you want it

There are other responsibilities, of course, and one of them is to help you keep your home . . . and our city . . . beautiful. Here on the desert . . . without an adequate supply of water throughout the year . . . the world-famed beauty of Palm Springs would not be possible. Green lawns, healthy shade trees, flowers and shrubs require water if we are to have the rich profusion of color of which Palm Springs is justly proud.

Now is the time to complete your plans for maintaining your perennial gardens . . . the lawn, trees and shrubs which represent a sizeable investment on your part in planning, seed and plants, and effort . . . not to mention the years of waiting for them to reach their maximum beauty. Remember that regular watering . . . frequently . . . is essential through the warm, dry summer months. You will be richly rewarded for your pains.

Under the direction of Nile Buhler, 15 hair stylists will present as many models in a showing of coordinated hair and clothes styles inspired by the chemise look.

Among the features of the show will be the latest Rose Marie Reid swim suits, as well as the Palm Springs debut of the famous Alcoa all-aluminum dress—a shimmering spun aluminum sheath with matching shoes, also made of aluminum, a specially matched mink stole and an original hair style designed to complete the ensemble.

The students who have conceived the new and exciting hair styles created expressly to be worn with the new chemise fashions, have given each one a name and will present it with an appropriate theme song. Humor will be injected to the show when one of the models will fashion an original old style chemise, complete with beads, stockings and shoes of the period, in a number called "Make Mine Chemise."

The public is invited to attend.

Leathers' Paintings Tour Texas

All of Texas cannot come to Palm Springs to help celebrate Desert Circus Week, as this desert city salutes Texas, but a bit of the desert is being sent to Texas in the form of a collection of desert paintings.

Few artists know or so magnificently portray the desert as does Paul Leathers of Palm Springs and he is the one who has been invited to send a collection of his canvases to Texas. The invitation came from Art Curator Carlton Palmer and the canvases will be in an invitational exhibit that will show in Odessa April 22-25, and then tour Texas. Leathers is sending eight of his finest paintings which will be shown in a collection of 100 paintings by such well-known artists as Charles Russell, Frederick Waugh, Chauncey Ryder, and other American, French and British artists.

Leathers, seriously studies the growth, terrain and desert ways, tramping over the desertland to sketch exciting features in oil on small canvases, so that he captures at the moment of existence, the color, light, shadows and intrigue of some special desert cameo.

During recent years his paintings have been exhibited at the Desert Inn, where new paintings will be shown soon.

Easter Egg Hunt Popular

It was a gala day at the Ranch Club on Easter Sunday with several hundred members, guests and children in attendance for the Kiddies' Easter egg hunt and regular Sunday Brunch.

More than 300 children assembled in the Rodeo Room under the supervision of John and Edna Torrence, well-known dance team and dance teachers. After instructions were turned loose for the hunt which was held in the club's pool area. The children then returned to the Rodeo Room where favors were given to all and special prizes distributed to those who had found the "golden" eggs. Entertainment was provided by Goo Goo the Clown and his assistant, Karen Griffin.

When the show was over the children, whose parents attended the Brunch, were entertained by the Torrences and looked after by the Ranch Club's baby sitters.

Noel and Joyce Clarke, owners of the club, attended the Brunch while their daughters, Nikki, Debby and Sandra participated in the Kiddies' party. Also in the Brunch audience were Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Lauerhass (she's the former movie star Betty Bronson of Peter Pan fame) and Sally Eilers Morse.

'Born Yesterday' is Comedy Fare at The Playhouse

The perennial comedy hit, "Born Yesterday," by Garson Kanin, opened at Palm Springs Playhouse Tuesday to run through Sunday. It still is meaty fare and its laugh lines still as strong as when first presented some eight years ago.

Playing the role created by Paul Douglas on stage and screen, is Richard Reeves in his first appearance at the Playhouse. His portrayal of the millionaire junk man, Harry Brock, who believes money will buy anything is convincing, forceful and finished. His characterization is completely understandable and for all his gruffness, manages to elicit a certain degree of sympathy from his audience.

As Billie Dawn, his girl friend, Marrian Walters gives her usual capable and convincing performance, proving her great versatility. Her short, blonde hair gave her an entirely new personality which she keyed, by the addition of boisterous costuming and flashy jewelry, to the character of the beautiful but no-so-dumb, in the end, Billie. The gin rummy scene between her and Brock is one of the laugh highlights of the play. John Bonitz acquires himself exceptionally well in the role of Paul Verrall, hired by Brock, to teach Billie how to be a lady in Washington society. It is one of his best portrayals of the season.

Back again is Loyal Lucas to play the role of Ed Dovere who traded a brilliant future for the anaesthesia of liquor to be a front for Brock. Lucas handled a difficult role with skill.

Others in the cast are Matt Pello as Eddie, brother and stooge of Harry Brock, whose appearance throughout the play was humor provoking, whether in pantomime or spoken. Senator Hodges played by Michael Ferrall, and his wife, a social climber, by Dori Warren. Charles Palmer, Betty St. George, Robert St. George, Patricia Lang and George Byrne complete the cast. Direction is by Michael Ferrall.

TODAY'S SPORTRAIT

By JAMES COX, United Press Sports Writer

LAWRENCE Kan. — One by one they went by the boards: the 15-foot pole vault, the four-minute mile, the seven-foot high jump. Now the 200-foot discus throw has been mastered by a 6-3, 233-pound giant who is at his best when the pressure is greatest.

Twenty-year-old Al Oerter, a senior at Kansas University, achieved his self-described "life's goal" last Saturday when he heaved the discus 202 feet, six inches at the Arkansas Relays in Fayetteville, becoming the first man to pass the magic mark.

That might come in for dispute from the West Coast where less than two weeks ago Rink Babka of Southern Cal tossed the platter off the field and into a mud puddle. Some said it actually was over 200 feet, but it officially was measured at slightly in excess of 196 feet, still better than the old world record of 194 feet, six inches by Fortune Gordien of Minnesota in 1953.

OERTER, WHO BEAT Gordien to win the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne, thrives on pressure. "My practice throws are never good," Oerter says. "I can always do at least 10 feet better in a meet. It's the competition that does it."

Although Oerter is the first to give credit for a "perfect side-wind" that acted as an airfoil and held the discus level for his record throw in Arkansas, it might well be that his real spur was some 2,000 miles distant in California.

Oerter had long dreamed of becoming the first man to reach 200 feet with the platter and was confidently aiming for it near the end of this season. But then Babka came close and Oerter knew he had to hurry. The pressure was on and he met it.

Oerter is a technician of his trade. "Coordination and timing are the big things in throwing the discus," he said. "It takes a lot of practice to learn to balance the body while spinning."

THE STRENGTH of the discus throw comes mostly from the deltoid muscle at the top of the shoulder. Oerter scientifically selected the "snatch" method of weight lifting to develop this muscle and works out regularly.

The native of New Hyde Park, N.Y., will receive his degree in business administration next winter, and then head for a career in public relations and a continuation of discus throwing with the New York Athletic Club. It's a safe bet that he'll show up again at the 1960 Olympics.

But in the immediate future there is a duel shaping with Babka at the National Collegiate championships in Berkeley, Calif., June 13.

"It's going to be some match," Oerter said. "I feel like I can't wait for it."

Machen, Folley Battle to Draw In Dull Contest

SAN FRANCISCO — "Draw one!" — but if it's another stale mate between Eddie Machen and Zora Folley you are talking about, the fans are not interested.

The two heavyweights ground to a 12-round draw Wednesday night at the Cow Palace which only proved several minor points.

Machen, who went into the ring weighing 191½ and was undefeated as a professional in 24 bouts, can't beat everybody. Neither can Folley, who scaled 194 and had been on a winning streak of 18 straight.

The fight had been billed as one which would uncover the logical contender for Floyd Patterson's title. But Truman Gibson, executive secretary of the IBC, glumly said afterward, "Where does this leave us?" Machen is ranked the number one contender and Folley the number two man by both The Ring magazine and NBA.

The crowd of about 13,000 began getting callouses on their hands clapping for action from the second round on.

By the seventh the fans were booing and in the eighth some yelled for ex-amateur Pete Rade-macher who vainly sought to win the crown last summer from Patterson.

After the pair of counter-punchers had fallen out of their last clinch, judge Jack Downey called in a draw at 115 points each.

Folley 117-115, and referee Frankie Carter voted for Machen, 117-116. The United Press voted for Machen, 117-115.

Hammering Hank Eyes Bat Crown

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Hammering Hank Aaron thinks he'll hit "around 345 or 350" and at the pace he's going now, rival pitchers will gladly settle for that.

The Milwaukee slugger socked his eighth home run of the spring and his third in as many games Wednesday to lead the Braves to a 5-4 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers at Dallas.

Aaron also had a single, for two of the five hits Milwaukee was able to muster off four Dodger pitchers.

"I figure if I can get off to a good start I have a chance to lead the league in hitting," Aaron declares.

A "chance" the man says. Who's he kidding? Outside of Stan Musial, he's the most logical candidate to capture the crown. Even Musial, who won the title last year with a .351 average, says Aaron is the man he must beat out.

The White Sox came up with seven runs in the fourth inning to beat the Cardinals, 10-6 at Denver.

Southpaw Harvey Haddix pitched Cincinnati to a five-hit 2-0 triumph over Washington but the Redleg victory was marred by a third inning beaning of Frank Robinson. The Cincinnati outfielder was removed to a Portsmouth, Ohio, hospital after being hit in the head by a Camilo Pascual pitch. Hospital attendants said the injury apparently was not serious.

Mike McCormick, San Francisco's 20-year-old southpaw, led Herb Score of Cleveland, 6-3, with the help of a third inning error by Tribe first baseman Mickey Vernon which permitted three unearned runs.

Harry Anderson, Rip Repulski and Willie Jones each homered to lead the Phillies to a 12-8 decision over the Yankees at Winston Salem, N. C., before 10,059 fans, largest in North Carolina's baseball history.

The Red Sox drubbed their Memphis farm hands, 10-1, as Don Buddin and Frank Malzone hit homers. But the big news of the game was Ted Williams' first exhibition appearance of the spring. Ted pinch hit twice at the insistence of the fans, and walked both times.

NL President Sees Another Exciting Race

League to Have Best Year of All Says Prexy Giles

By WARREN C. GILES
President of the National League
Written for the United Press
CINCINNATI — Bright prospects for another hard-fought pennant battle: the debut of Los Angeles and San Francisco into the National League, and increased advance ticket sales by all our clubs, point toward a most successful season for the NL in 1958.

Our Giants and Dodgers will receive a royal welcome in San Francisco and Los Angeles. The people of those areas are eager and ready for major-league baseball and I am confident that the interest will increase as the folks on the West Coast get a first-hand taste of big-league ball.

This factor alone, would assure one of the most interesting seasons in the league's 62-year history. In addition, however, we have every reason to anticipate another great pennant race—something that has become a National League trademark.

LAST YEAR AT this time, when I went out on a limb and predicted a race as closely contested as the one we enjoyed in 1956, I was branded an "optimist" in some quarters. You will recall that our 1956 championship wasn't decided until the final day of the season as the Dodgers, Braves and Redlegs battled down to the wire.

Last year, although we didn't have a spine-tingling finish, the race was another "four-star thriller," or I should say "five-star thriller." Five of our clubs were "nip-and-tuck" all the way up to the first week in August and that had never happened before in all of major-league history.

For several years now, I've been saying that the National League's overall strength makes it the best balanced league I've ever seen. Our recent pennant races have borne out that contention, and 1958 should be no exception.

I BELIEVE IT will be harder for Milwaukee to win in 1958 than it was in 1957 and I think the Braves realize it. They are a determined lot, but judging by what I saw of the Cardinals, Dodgers, Reds and Phillies, we could easily have a repeat of last year's scramble.

In Florida this spring, I saw the best-looking crop of rookies in five years. That is a most healthy situation, not only proving that a supply of talent is there, but the presence of capable rookies presses the veterans into better performances.

As I see it, our new fans in Los Angeles and San Francisco are going to be treated to a "ding-dong" pennant race—the kind that fans in the other cities have become accustomed to in the National League.

Certainly, we are going to find new enthusiasm in California—the kind of enthusiasm which will permeate the entire league. I just don't see how the National League can miss having one of its greatest seasons in 1958.

Silky to Ride First Class to Louisville

BURBANK — Silky Sullivan leaves for Louisville Saturday and a date in the Kentucky Derby. The stretch-running Silky will be flown aboard a converted passenger plane instead of the usual freighter because "of the importance of the race coming up," according to an airlines official.

BEN SHEARER HITS JACKPOT WITH ACE AT ELDORADO CLUB

Out of This World Final Rounds to Start Tomorrow

Thunderbird Country Club's Out of This World golf tournament went into its second day of active competition today with a Scotch foursome, using the Chapman system of play.

Then one day he saw, tried and bought a new Mercury. Overnight his reputation changed. Everyone asked how this miser could buy this big, beautiful car. The turtle just smiled. For he had shelled out less for his Mercury than he would have paid for many much smaller cars.

FUNCTIONAL BEAUTY

THE Distinguished Character of this custom and expertly appointed DEEP WELL estate, with its 80' classic facade gives reverence and beauty to the onlooker, but behind this symmetry of steel and mortar is a functionalization and desert living as you have never known before.

THE kitchen has been accommodated with every modern convenience, and the entire floor area has been designed as the result of time study test.

THE myriads of detail will delight the most fastidious--with its 24 karat gold plated fixtures, jeweled tile, world of closet space, $2500 worth of hand woven bamboo draperies, 3 inch pile wall to wall woven carpetings, spacious floor to ceiling windows overlooking professionally landscaped grounds and a custom built pool, and the unusual amount of supporting structural steel gives continued assurance to the dweller of this desert Palace.

THE Owner's plans have unavoidably necessitated the sale of this home.

WE of the GANNON Company are proud to offer this home to you.

Palo Verde Valley Library District To Be Studied

Formation of a library district in the Palo Verde Valley to be known as the Valley Library District was proposed in a petition received by the Board of Supervisors this week and referred to the county clerk for certification of signatures of which there were 235.

Boundaries of the proposed district are given as those of the Palo Verde Valley Unified Schools District. On certification of the signatures and approval of boundaries a date will be set for an election.

According to Administrative Officer Robert T. Andersen, it only takes a majority vote to approve the district and under such a special district a building can be constructed and paid for over a five-year period, whereas under a bond issue it takes a two-thirds majority for approval of a library construction project. A bond issue for the library failed to carry.

According to the Health News Institute, modern drugs have all but eliminated major infectious diseases that once were deadly or crippling. Around 1900, whooping cough killed 7,000 children per year; now only about 300 die yearly of this disease.

also circulated Babbage's nomination papers. The bumper stickers are available from Babbage's campaign office, 3593 Eighth Street, Riverside. Babbage, a lawyer and former assemblyman, filed on both the Republican and Democratic tickets.

Action on Proposed Lease of Ryan Airport For Retired People Center Held for Study

Action on a proposed lease of a portion of Ryan Airport near Hemet for operation of a community center for retired people was held up this week for at least a week pending a study by Administrative Officer Robert T. Andersen.

Approval of a five-year lease to Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hilbrook, Jr., with a total rental of $66,000 was recommended by the airport commission, but the supervisors, apparently wary because of the outcome of the recent lease of the property to American Pipe and Steel Corporation, showed a cautious attitude.

"I'D LIKE TO SEE this held up a week or so," said Supervisor Fred McCall. "I'm not saying I'm against it, but there is a lot I don't know about it."

Supervisor George Berkey questioned the wisdom of tying the property up 15 years for the proposed type of operation. He said it might interfere with industrial development of the airport.

AIRPORTS DIRECTOR Joe Marriott pointed out that although the five-year lease provides for two five-year renewals making a 15-year total, it also provides for cancellation. As to industrial development, he said construction of an industrial plant "farther to the eastern part of the airport" is under consideration but there is nothing definite yet.

Under the lease as proposed the county agrees to re-roof the buildings which were not re-roofed by the previous lessee and agrees to repair and make operational all utility systems and maintain main lines. The lessee is to pay utility service charges.

THE LESSEE agrees under the lease terms to make capital improvements in the first 15 months of not less than $20,000. No rent is to be charged the first 90 days during which a rehabilitation program is to be conducted. The rent for the first year commencing at the end of the 90-day period is $500 per month, and for the remainder of the five years it is to be $1,250 per month.

In conjunction with operation of a community center the lessee is authorized by the proposed lease to operate a trailer park and provide meals and housing accommodations for transient visitors to the airport. In a brief discussion as to the procedure for allowing operation of the trailer park, Supervisor McCall said he thought probably the usual requirement for a permit should be followed to avoid criticism.

AS TO THE COST to the county of re-roofing the un-re-roofed houses, Marriott said he did not yet have an estimate. "Frankly," he told the supervisors, "I doubt that we have enough money in the budget to do the job and we'll probably have to ask you for an appropriation. However, I'm sure the $20,000 expenditure by the tenant will more than cover it."

Marriott observed that the community center would make housing facilities available to airport visitors. "I think this is a reasonably good proposition for the county," he concluded.

THE PORTION of the airport to be leased is described as located "south of Santa Fe railroad extending from the westerly tip of the triangle at the intersection of Stetson Avenue and the Santa Fe tracks in an easterly direction to a north-south line 1,000 feet east of the center line of Cawston Avenue."

It includes all the buildings thereon except that the county retains the use of the hospital and adjoining administration building for a period of one year from the date of the lease agreement.
